Overview

The API PowerChem conference is the pre-eminent power station chemistry conference, exhibition and training course in the southern hemisphere. The API is proud to be able to offer to the energy industry this biennial event for power station chemists and their suppliers.

The primary aim of the conference is to provide up-to-date professional development for those working in the industry as well as those associated with it. The format of the conference will allow close interaction between speakers, presenters, exhibitors and delegates, with a number of training courses also available. We anticipate 80 - 100 delegates.

The program and events are well supported by experts and eminent speakers from Australia and around the world.

PowerChem Conference 2020 will be held at Stamford Plaza Sydney Airport Hotel. Sunday 9 to Wednesday 12 August 2020.

PowerChem Conference 2018 received excellent feedback from delegates, exhibitors and sponsors alike.

Sponsors were provided with an invaluable opportunity to network with key decision-makers, whilst delegates relished the opportunity to be presented with the latest products and services available to them.

The conference program includes plenary sessions as well as a panel discussion on specialised topics. An exhibition runs parallel to the conference, with all morning/afternoon and lunch refreshments focused around the exhibition area to encourage delegates to visit all booths.
